

I strongly oppose the use of cellphones on airplanes. There phones available should the need arise. To allow the use of cell phones totally invades ones personal space. Many times I am reading, working on my laptop, or trying to rest while sitting on an airplane. I wouldn't be able to do any of those things if there were conversations going on all around me. It's already bad enough when when there is simple conversation between two people who don't know how to use their inside voices. The entire plan has to hear their conversation. I can't imagine if every other person were speaking on a cell phone! I urge you not to pass this through!
